FROM THE

PRESIDENT

Congratulations to the Class of 2013, and welcome to the ranks of Elon University's 30,000 alumni.

You have all been prepared in the great liberal arts tradition for a lifetime of learning, using your talents in writing, research, analysis, persuasion, and critical thinking to create lives and careers of meaning and purpose in a fast-changing world. You have combined these competencies with strong majors and experiences through international and domestic study, service-learning and community engagement, internships, undergraduate research, and leadership development—transformative opportunities that have positioned you for success. You should be proud of your accomplishments and know that your alma mater cherishes each of you.

What I hope for each of you is that you take the knowledge and skills that you have gained at Elon and put them to good use in a world that desperately requires smart people with good hearts! Equally important, I hope you will keep Elon close throughout every stage of your life. As alumni, you represent Elon's future, and I encourage you to take responsibility for keeping your alma mater strong and moving forward. Stay connected through the alumni chapter or club in your area, visit campus as often as you can, and consider speaking to a class because we value your contributions. Once you are established in a career, reach back to help an Elon student secure an internship or a job, and advocate for Elon in your community.

The world needs Elon graduates, and I firmly believe that the next great leap in Elon's reputation will come from the accomplishments of extraordinary alumni like you.

Long Live Elon!

LEO M LAMBERT

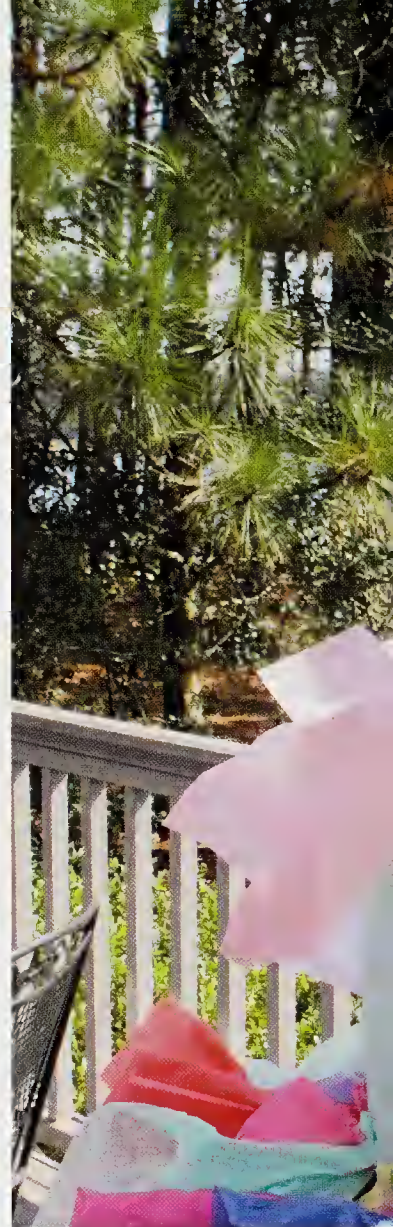

IMPRESSION:

After spending only three years on this campus Elon has certainly made an impression on my life. It's hard to believe that in this short amount of time I have learned so much, found some of my best friends and had experiences that I will never forget. The hardest part is, what mark will I leave on Elon? Being one of around 6,000 students seems overwhelming when thinking about being remembered, but what I have come to realize is that all of us will leave our own mark. Whether it's in a class, an organization or even on an individual, each person has the ability to leave an impression.

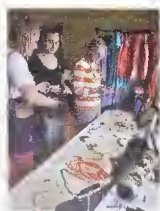

What will yours be?

new student orientation FRESH START

Orientation weekend is a way to make the stressful adjustment to college just a little easier for the year's incoming freshmen. Elon 101 groups meet for the first times, orientation leaders relieve frantic nerves, President Leo Lambert makes his infamous convocation speech, and each freshman receives that symbolic acorn. Each night of the first weekend has an event made to facilitate new friendships and ease into the new year. This year, there were four main events:

Catch the Fire, Phoenix Extravaganza, Community on the Commons, and hypnotist Tom Deluca. Activities included making a Hall Phoenix, being serenaded by one of Elon's a capella groups, Rip Chord, and watching fellow students, such as sophomore CJ Moore, fall in love with a piece of fruit and cry at its demise while hypnotized. New student orientation provided a weekend of fun for freshmen, orientation leaders, and all staff involved. MARIA HAYMOND

Q&A

WITH THE KING AND QUEEN

PHI PSI CLI: What do you do for fun?

TRACY MCBRIDE: I like to hang with friends (Tri-Sigma sisters and the Pi Kappa Phi boys). As far as activities, I love to dance and run, they really help clear my mind!

SAM KAHANE: I like leading yoga and bootcamp classes as Elon's only male Group Exercise instructor, Elon basketball games, enjoying my Thursdays at Sandy's and revisiting Moffit.

PPC: What is your favorite food?

TM: Sushi! Tiger Uppercut roll at Simply Thai is a little bit of heaven on earth.

SK: Spaghetti and meatballs.

PPC: What did you do with the crown?

TM: It's on display in my room. I can't even lie, I hung my "Homecoming Queen" sash across an empty wall in my room. My tiara is on display on top of my dresser next to my photos of family and friends, candles, and jewelry box. It's pretty much on display with all of my favorite things!

SK: It's a great cereal bowl.

PPC: Do you have any unique obsessions or hobbies?

TM: I guess my weird hobby is that I was a professional fisherwoman when I was younger. I would do competitive offshore fishing tournaments and I have a bunch of fun articles written about my fishing family and I!

SK: I'm stuck in the 90's: my 90's wind breakers and song collection, consisting of only Shaggy, Third Eye Blind and Blink 182.

Students may call it "magical." Some would use the words "beautiful," "festive," or "breathtaking." However students decide to describe this spectacular event, the Holiday Tree Lighting and Luminaries Ceremony is one everyone looks forward to during the holiday season.

This celebration, sponsored by the Truitt Center for Religious and Spiritual Life, has been held at Elon for over 20 years now. One can expect to hear Christmas carols sung by some of the university's a capella groups and watch the lighting of the menorah by the student-run Jewish organization, Hillel. An endless supply of hot chocolate and warm cider is available to students, staff, and community members gathered in front of Alamance waiting for the illumination to begin.

After the carols and Hanukkah traditions have finished, more than 50,000 lights covering both buildings and trees are ignited to create a mesmerizing glow in the heart of campus. Students take part in snapping photos with friends in front of the big Christmas tree and strolling down the sidewalks lined with more than 2,000 luminaries. These sparkling decorations are left up for many days after the celebration and leave the campus looking festive and bright when nighttime rolls around. KAYLA HAMMER

1 HOLIDAYS AT MAYNARD HOUSE

There's no better way to get into the holiday spirit than attending the annual holiday party at president Leo Lambert's home. With amazing appetizers, twinkling lights, and Leo in the flesh- why wouldn't you go? And what better way to commemorate the night than with a professional photograph taken with the president that you can send home to your family.

2 COLLEGE COFFEE Started in 1984, College Coffee has become one of the most loved Elon traditions. Whether it be for the free food and coffee, or the opportunity to convene with friends and faculty, College Coffee is a great time. Held every Tuesday morning, students can look forward to some delicious pastries and awesome performances.

3 TURNING 21 DINNER While some students probably don't remember how they celebrated their 21st, Elon does a great job of marking this milestone. Started by a previous chaplain at Elon, Richard McBride, the dinner allows students to come together with faculty and peers and party for their birthday. "I wanted to help people recognize the transition that occurs in life. It's a marker," said McBride. TRACY RAETZ what's your SQUIRREL story?

As subjects of video projects and anonymous Twitter accounts (@xoGossipSquirrel), squirrels not only ran around campus, they became part of student culture. Many have their own squirrel stories to share.

“ “This one tried really hard to get into the library one day while I was studying.”

JILLIAN CROWLEY

“ “I saw one almost get eaten by a hawk!”

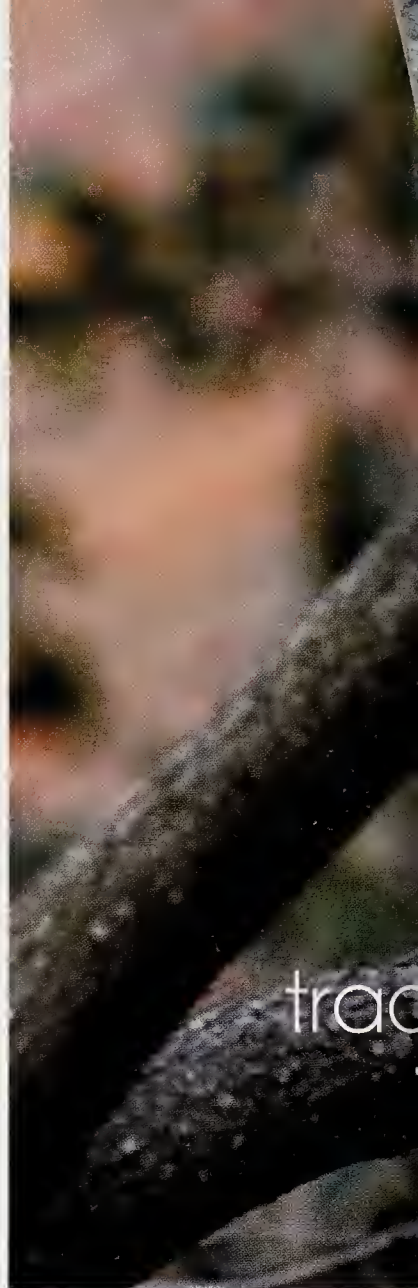

KENDALL DODGE

“ “I was walking by Sloan while on the phone with my mom and was about to pass a girl on the sidewalk. A squirrel came out really casually from the bushes, so subtly I didn't even see it, and the girl I was passing started screaming! She literally dropped her phone and her bag fell to the ground. She had a panic attack because the squirrel took a tiny step in her direction--all I could do was laugh!”

NATALIE DUPUIS

“ “While throwing away a Reese's wrapper in the trashcan by Smith, I heard something rustling around. Next thing I know, I felt something sharp clinging to my arm. A squirrel had jumped and climbed up my arm to escape the trashcan. I fell to the ground screaming as a tour walked by; it was both humiliating and terrifying.”

student organizations shine on campus

INVOLVED

It's a bright, scorching September day. The sun is blazing down on Elon's brick paths, and students are buzzing in front of Moseley. It's Student Organization fair time. Each group has lined the walkways with decorated tables and their most dedicated members to promote and speak about each of their organizations. With over 200 organizations on campus, there seems to be a fit for every type of person. From ethnic or religious groups, Greek life, sports fanatics, dancers, service learning partners, singers, and more, the list could go on for days. The university prides itself on providing this endless amount of choices to support all the diverse students here at Elon, and most students can never pick just one! Whether it's a mix of club baseball and an a cappella group, or joining Elon's Finest while also in Cooking Club, these organizations give students the opportunity to find their niche and go out of their comfort zone as well. KAYLA HAMMER

As part of Elon's commitment to diversity, the Numen Lumen Multi-Faith Center opened to provide a hub for religious life organizations. The building houses space for prayer, meditation, reflection and interfaith dialogue. It also includes a classroom, a small library and space to study, a meditation garden and a beautiful sacred space for Numen Lumen (previously called College Chapel) and other events. The 16 religious life organizations on campus were excited to use the new space for their activities.

The Numen Lumen pavilion was a new addition to campus, but changes didn't stop there. Elon Hillel also celebrated the dedication of its new Sklut Hillel Center in March. Other religious groups planned new events and goals. Every month, the leaders of the organizations got together to discuss upcoming plans. They grew their connections with each other and collaborated to sponsor interfaith events and awareness on campus. Events included speakers, retreats and community service. Also, many religious organizations gathered together to prepare for the Luminaries festivities in December.

The variety of religious and spiritual organizations were the anchor of promoting multi-faith discussions and diversity within the Elon community. GINA APPERSON

Joining Greek life was one of the best decisions I have made at Elon. With so many negative stereotypes surrounding Greek life and what being a sorority girl means, I was nervous. I consider myself very studious and I constantly push myself with involvement in extracurricular activities. Although I take my academics and future career very seriously, being a member of a sorority has given me something that I cannot get anywhere else: friendship. So cliché, I know, but it's the truth! I never thought that I could be surrounded by a group of girls who are so different but at the same time have so much in common. My sisters have become some of my best friends. They are my support system, and I can't imagine my college career (or the rest of my life for that matter) without them. While some stereotypes stay true, being in a sorority is a lot more than just bows and letter shirts (two things which I happen to despise.) At Elon, it is about finding your place and a group of friends who will be with you forever.

FOUNDING FATHERS

Freshman year, I never wanted to be part of Greek Life. It never appealed to me. Yet, not long after spring rush, my friend asked me if I wanted to start a Jewish fraternity. I thought, why not? It'd be a great way to get Jewish students together outside of Hillel and help form a strong Jewish identity on campus. Little did we know it would take almost two full years of hard work to establish Elon's very first Jewish fraternity. This past spring, we had our initiation with a founding father class of 33 students. I was honestly in disbelief at how real this whole thing had become since the day the idea was planted. Starting from a simple text message, no one would have thought that an official fraternity would now be here.

The National Pan-Hellenic Council (NPHC) was founded on the campus of Howard University in Washington DC, on May 10, 1930. It is currently composed of nine International Greek letter Sororities and Fraternities. Elon's National Pan-Hellenic Council is comprised of six of the historically African-American fraternities and sororities: Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Inc., Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, Inc., Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Inc., Zeta Phi Beta Sorority, Inc., Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity, Inc., and Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity, Inc.

These organizations are service-oriented and conduct philanthropic and hands-on community projects in Elon and the surrounding Burlington community. Among its service projects, NPHC participates in Elonthon and collaborates with the Project Life bone marrow donor recruitment drive.

NPHC also holds annual programs to demonstrate and educate the Elon community about the culture of the different organizations. This year, NPHC hosted "Meet the Greeks," to educate students about historically Black Greek letter organizations, performed signature sorority and fraternity steps during College Coffee, and sponsored its annual Homecoming Step Show in which the Sigma Delta Chapter of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, Inc. and the Omicron Iota Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Inc. were crowned victors. During Black History Month, the council challenged attendants at College Coffee to consider what unity means, and used those definitions to create a "unity quilt" in honor of the freedom quilts used by slaves on the Underground Railroad. Elon's NPHC looks forward to further unifying programs in the future. AIYANA WILLIAMS

student media on campus

ON RECORD

Becoming involved in student media while in college is crucial to building a skill set you cannot get in the classroom. As a Communications Fellow coming in freshmen year, it was not really possible for me to not be involved in some sort of student media. Like most first-year students I walked through the organization fair overwhelmed, arms overloaded with pamphlets, free food and any publications I could get my hands on. Once I narrowed my choices down I decided I would carry out my love of photography by joining The Pendulum and Phi Psi Cli. Having two photography-gearred jobs made me the nerd walking around on campus with a camera constantly; but I loved it! At Elon, students toting around 20 pounds of video equipment seems completely normal, which makes the student media community even better. Since freshman year I have also become involved with Live Oak Communications. At Live Oak I know that what I am doing will directly help me with my career goals; something that is very reassuring when searching for internships and jobs. Not only are all students involved in media talented, they are passionate. For all of us this is what we want to do, which shows in everything we make. So I will go on record saying that getting involved with student media on campus is one of the best decisions I have made. TRACY RAETZ

VOICES ONLY

Coming to college, there was no question in my mind that I wanted to join an a cappella group. When I first came to Elon I thought I wanted to be in a co-ed a cappella group. I got a callback to both Sweet Signatures and Twisted Measure, and as a protocol in cases like this, the auditionee is required to write down which group they would prefer to be in, just in case they are offered a spot in both. Before I made my decision, I asked the president at the time why she loved Sweet Signatures. Her entire face lit up and she actually started to tear up as she explained that these women are the most amazing women she had ever met and her time in Sweet Signatures had absolutely made her college career. Nobody had to tell me twice which was the group for me. Ever since the day I got the call about being accepted into Sweet Signatures, my time at Elon has been more than I could ever have hoped for. I have met and become close with some of the most amazing women I have ever met; they are talented, sweet, caring, intelligent and unique in their own way. I have been fortunate enough to sing at two weddings, compete in an international a cappella competition, travel all over the country to sing, and record an award-winning CD that is available on iTunes. While these experiences are amazing, nothing compares to the experiences I have had getting to know the amazing women that compose Sweet Signatures. They have helped me to grow as a singer and musician, a woman, a friend and a person in general. Looking back at my time in college, the moments I shared with Sweet Sigs will always be my fondest. LINDSEY MAXWELL

Talking to Ginna Mason you would think she is a typical Elon student, with just an amazing talent in theatre productions. Ginna's first play was Going Buggy in first grade where she played Little Miss Muffet. From here, her passion for acting escalated.

"I was like, 'This is fun. I like chasing boys around with a tennis racquet,'" she said in response to the Going Buggy play when she chased and hit "spiders" (the boys).

During her Elon years, she acquired more experience with theatre productions. She enjoyed playing Polly Baker, opposite to Michael Calahan, who played Bobby Child in Crazy For You. "It's a lot easier to be in love with somebody on stage if they're your friend," Ginna said.

Her biggest challenges so far was memorizing scripts in pieces and having three knee surgeries after breaking her knee twice. While she can still dance, she has to ice her knee everyday, "It's hard, it's really hard in 3 inch heels," she said.

She attended the Southeastern Theatre Conference, and in her junior spring semester she visited London where she had the opportunity to take theatre, art and sustainability classes. She also had the chance to take part in voice lessons with opera teacher Ande Renee.

Ginna hopes to work in London one day. This past summer she worked at a theatre, Post Playhouse, in Nebraska and played major roles like Peggy in Godspell, Ellen in Oklahoma, and Sandy in Grease. Recently she received job offers from the North Carolina state theatre Flat Rock Playhouse which is located in the western part of the state.

GETTING DOWN TO BUSINESS

Placing first at national conventions and receiving high standing awards is anything but foreign to students in the Martha and Spencer Love School of Business, or LSB. These achievements can only be a result of the dedicated students, faculty and staff members of the program here at Elon University. They are known for going great lengths and striving every day to reach new heights in research and studies. It is not always all work and no play. There are many student organizations that LSB students can get involved in on campus that allow a more laidback atmosphere for whatever one might be interested in. For those who have a knack in economics or international business, there are clubs offering a casual setting to learn more about the subject and interact with other peers and faculty. These clubs and other organizations motion toward a better relationship between faculty and students at the LSB and give opportunities to bounce ideas off fellow scholars.

The LSB's MBA program was ranked #1 in Bloomberg's Businessweek, a rise since their #6 placement in 2009. The Princeton Review also rated the school #1 out of 294 others for being "best administered." This highly regarded school of business offers three degrees: the Bachelor of Science in Accounting, the Bachelor of Arts with majors in Economics and International Economics, and the Bachelor of Science in Business Administration (B.S.B.A.) with majors in Entrepreneurship, Finance, International Business, Management and Marketing. The LSB also has 5 minors available for study, including Accounting, Business Administration, Economics, Entrepreneurship and Professional Sales. KAYLA HAMMER

school of education

My favorite building on Elon's beautiful campus is Mooney. Yes, it may be an older building and in need of some updates, but as soon as I walk into Mooney I notice a sense of community that I can only find in the School of Education. I cannot say better things about the education professors. Not only do the professors have years of experience in the field, but they also truly care about their students. I have one professor who acknowledges each of his students' birthdays with baked goods and another who will come to review sessions, even if it's at nine-o'clock on a Friday night. These are just two examples of how the professors make the School of Education a family rather than a collection of students and professors. There's something about an education major that sets them apart from other students. Education majors are passionate about their school work and excited for their future, they can talk to you for hours about one of their students or their day at the elementary school. Being a part of the School of Education creates an indescribable bond between students; my classmates are so supportive of one another. I could not imagine studying elementary education at any other school. HILARY STEVENSON

WE GO

A long weekend in Chile, three days in Cusco and three days trekking to witness the utter beauty and serenity of Machu Picchu. We arrived at Aguas Calientes soon as could be and woke up at 4:15am the next morning to beat the traffic. We were the first group on site and with each step it grew more and more spectacular. Alpacas were wandering around, making it all the more evident that we've never seen anything like this before. The history of Machu Picchu is profound and fascinating and the beautifully intricate work of the Incas cannot be described adequately in words; it's simply awe-inspiring.

WINTER WHEREABOUTS

Upon arrival to the Great Barrier Reef I could hardly hold myself together as I rushed to put my mask and flippers on and dive into the ocean. For the first hour my friend and I explored the roped in area almost fully. It seemed like it was every 30 seconds we'd both pop our heads out of the water, look at each other and say, "This is awesome!" We saw countless species of coral and fish, along with Wholly the resident blue fish. He had to be one of the highlights of the day for me due to his friendly nature. All it took was a wag of the finger and he would swim right up to you and let you pet his side. At times he would even swim into your hand and push you through the water. I'd never been so excited to swim in my entire life than I was that day. I hope that I can return one day very soon and swim with the sea life again. NATHAN EDGE

Here in Haifa, Israel, I have not only been a student in my classes but a student of the country as well. It's been so rewarding to have conversations with local Israelis and hear about their opinion on different political situations that we hear so much about in the United States. It's amazing how different it is to view a country from the television and to experience it.

PERICLEAN SCHOLARS

When I graduate in 2015, I will graduate as a Periclean scholar. From now until then, the possibilities are endless. There is no way to tell how we will progress as a team, or how I will grow as a person. All I know is that this experience was one worth embarking on. All of us are passionate about something bigger than ourselves - that's why we are all here. We seek the burdens of the world, and make them our own. We don't just want to go out into the world and do well, we want to do good. I am thankful for this opportunity and what's to come. Even though the future of our class remains uncertain, I know our voices are loud enough that they are bound to be heard. BIA JUREMA internship experiences

My internship at Every Day with Rachael Ray allowed me to do fun and exciting things every day, from whipping up pesto in the test kitchen and assisting with taste tests to attending cooking classes and participating in staff meetings. I also received invaluable advice from many of the editors, and their food expertise has inspired me to attend culinary school after I graduate from Elon.

Interning for a major fashion company in New York City was an incredible experience. In the city that never sleeps, I was able to make my work my life for the summer, and I am so proud of what I was able to accomplish. From photo-shoots to styling to model castings, each day offered a new experience and solidified my interest and passion for Fashion PR.

FAVORITE PART ABOUT ELON FOOTBALL

The best part about playing Elon football is honestly the competition. The southern conference has amazing players and coaches that are really fun to go up against.

QUOTED BY MICKEY CONN "The most important thing is to have fun, and remember, the fun's in the winning."

THE FUNNIEST THING The funniest thing I remember happening was one time my coach was yelling at me and in the middle of a word a bug flew into his mouth. The entire team got a good laugh out of that.

WHY HE'S HERE My role models are my parents. They have always been there for me and pushed me to do what I love and they're the reason I'm at Elon right now.

All Female Team ASHTIN GILL

I love North Carolina and couldn't imagine going to school anywhere else but my home state.

Ashtin shows her Phoenix pride as a member of the cheer squad.

STARTED CHEERING: In 5th grade.

TRAINING: I try to cross-train. I believe that that is the answer to staying fit. I like that dance and cheerleading target different muscle groups. On top of that, I also like going to the gym or running 2-3 miles outside.

SMART SNACKS: I love berries! Especially blackberries.

JUNK FOOD FAVES: Pretzel M&M's, I would be lying if I said that I didn't have any in my apartment right now

WHAT'S IN THE BAG: bows, water bottle, bug spray, extra sports bra, deodorant, cheer shoes, iPod, and poms

FAVORITE HOBBY: Dance! I know that sounds strange because I am on the All-Girl Cheer Squad but I have taken dance classes my entire life. Everything about learning combinations, perfecting technique, and expressing emotion gives me a desire to dance.

WHAT PEOPLE MIGHT NOT KNOW ABOUT ME: I competed in the Miss North Carolina pageant and I really enjoy antique shopping.

VINCE SCOZZARI Co-Ed Team

As a freshman first-time cheerleader, Vince gives fans a reason to smile during sporting events.

STARTED CHEERING: This year was my first year cheerleading.

TRAINING: I make sure to work out at least five days a week. The work outs consist of cardio and weight training to both build muscle and endurance.

SMART SNACKS: Apples and bananas.

JUNK FOOD FAVES: E.L. Fudge cookies

WHAT'S IN THE BAG: water, Gatorade, fruit, granola bar, and tape for my wrists.

FAVORITE HOBBY: Listening to music.

ONE WORD TO DESCRIBE ME WHILE

CHEERING: Entertaining!

WHAT'S NEXT: Graduate school to get my MBA.

—JUST DANCE—

The senior dance team captain has been dancing since age two and wants to eventually be a dancer for a professional sports team.

TRAINING SCHEDULE I work out Monday, Wednesday, Friday, Saturday with 45 minutes of cardio of my choice followed by like 10-15 minutes of core.

SMART SNACKS Cuties clementines! I could eat a box a day if I wasn't stopped.

GAME DAY ROUTINE My pre-performance ritual? I like to take my sweet time to get ready so I usually allow like two hours for hair and makeup.

WHAT'S IN THE BAG My dance bag is pretty disgusting actually. It pretty much smells like feet. I have three pairs of performance shoes, two pairs of poms, five pairs of old socks, and I think there's an apple in there or something too.

FAVORITE THING ABOUT ELON How beautiful it is, duh.

GO TO JUNK-FOOD S'mores Pop-Tarts are my guilty pleasure.

I enjoy long walks on the beach, trashy romance novels and golden retrievers.

GABE LATIGUE Men's Soccer

A senior midfielder from Apex, NC, Gabe is a force to be reckoned with on the soccer field.

STARTED PLAYING. I started playing soccer when I was 7 years old.

TRAINING. Sprints and weights are my go-tos.

SMART SNACKS. I love strawberries!

GAME DAY ROUTINE. Eat a good meal, listen to music, and share a few laughs with teammates to help me relax.

WHAT'S IN THE BAG. cleats, socks, iPod and Sonoma compression shorts.

FAVORITE PROFESSIONAL PLAYER. Andres Iniesta from FC Barcelona because he has so much talent, but remains extremely humble.

WHAT YOU MAY NOT KNOW. I brush my teeth before every game, I love playing ping-pong and I have a twin who plays at Appalachian State.

WHAT'S NEXT. I would love to play professionally.

Elon is a great campus and a friendly atmosphere.

JACLYN WOOD Varsity Soccer

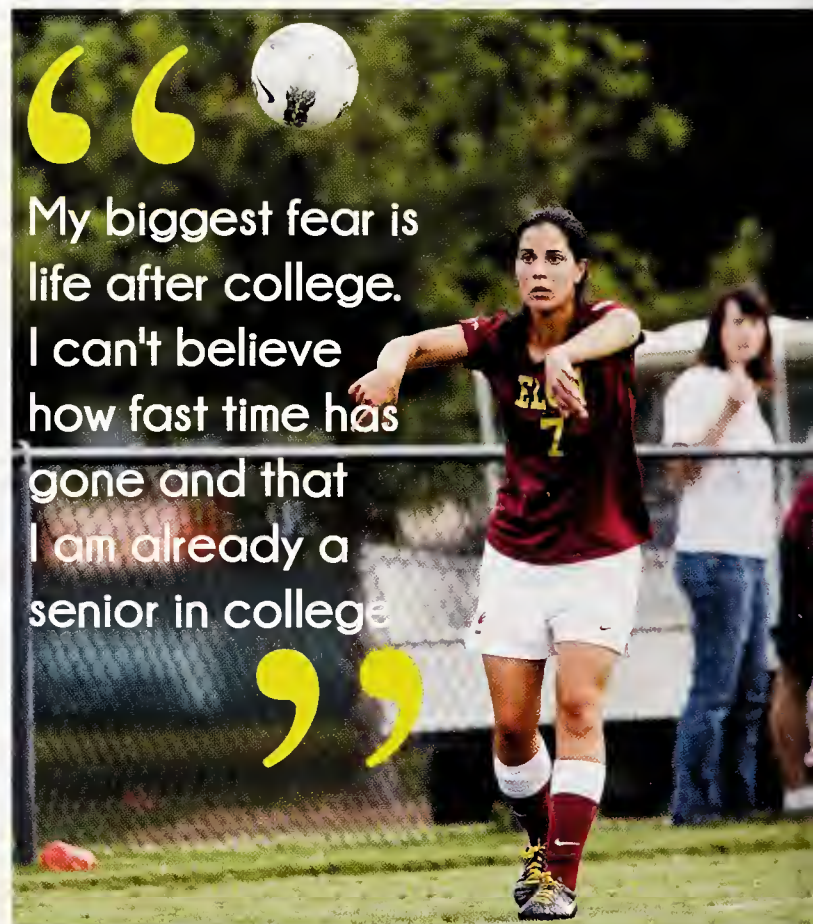

The midfielder, who has been playing since she was four years old, is thankful for the friendships she has made on the field.

TRAINING SCHEDULE: In season, our training routine is practice Monday mornings at 7am and weights Mondays at 4:30pm. Tuesday is our day off. We practice Wednesdays at 3:30 and Thursdays at 4:30. We usually play Fridays and Sundays, so we practice Saturday mornings just as a recovery session.

BIGGEST FEAR: My biggest fear is life after college. I can't believe how fast time has gone and that I am already a senior in college. I am excited to start a new part of my life, but to think of going in separate ways from my best friends that I have spent the past four years with is scary to think about.

COFFEE OR TEA: I love both, but if I had to choose I would choose tea because I have at least one cup of green tea a day.

PEANUT BUTTER OR JELLY: Peanut butter and jelly is my favorite type of sandwich but if I had to choose one I would say strawberry jelly.

My biggest fear is life after college. I can't believe how fast time has gone and that I am already a senior in college.

CARLY LEDBETTER Volleyball

The senior, who in middle school did not make the school volleyball team, is now a leader on and off the court.

BEFORE THE GAME: To prepare for a game, my teammates and I have a ritual where we go get snacks then listen to music in the locker room and have a dance party. Sounds lame, but it's actually awesome. My teammates have sweet moves.

FAVORITE PROFESSIONAL PLAYER: My favorite professional player is Megan Hodge. I remember watching her in high school, and I've essentially followed her at every stage of her career. I got to meet her when Penn State was playing at the Duke Invitational my freshman year.

WHEN I'M PLAYING: I am passionate. I have a tendency to cheer super loud and make really obnoxious faces!

WHAT'S NEXT: My plans after graduation are working in politics or some field of communications and eventually going back to graduate or law school to specialize.

I'm obsessed with Beyonce. 'All I need in this life of sin, is me and my girlfriend.'

JIMMY STEVENSON Cross Country

This junior has been passionate about track and field ever since he ran the mile in gym class in the fourth grade.

WHAT MAKES YOU FOR A MILE? It's really all about consistency. Putting in the mileage (up to 85 miles a week), nutrition, hitting the weight room, hydration and sleep all factor into a good performance. You have to be prepared for the race too, so it's important to stay focused and confident.

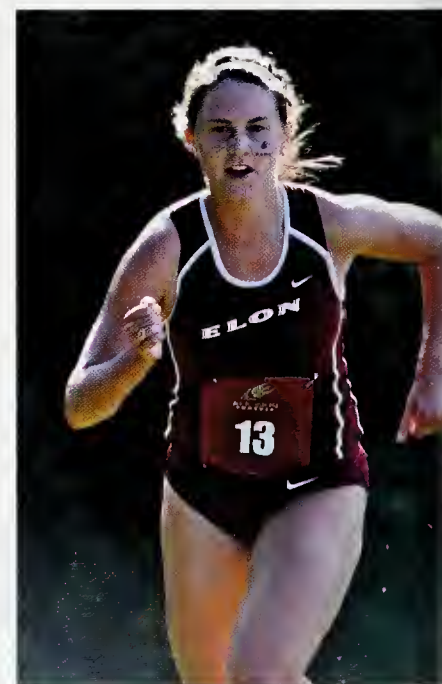

WHAT DO YOU EAT? Easy. Tofu and spinach. But sometimes I have raw eggs before a morning run. (I do live a little outside Philly... ROCKY!)
WHAT DO YOU ENJOY? I enjoy long walks on the beach and candle lit dinners.

WHAT ARE YOU INVOLVED IN? I'm involved with Campus Outreach, a Christian group on campus, Elon Local News as a Sports Anchor, and I DJ a Christian Rap show for WSOE 89.3, @PraiseBeatz.

SUNNA VIDISDOTTIR Women's Golf

From Iceland, Sunna hopes to go pro after college.
STARTED PLAYING I got my first set of clubs when I was twelve.

WHAT YOU MIGHT NOT KNOW I always need to be busy; there are few things I hate more than having nothing to do.

TRAINING I always hit one large bucket of balls and work on my short game, especially putting.

FAVORITE HEALTHY SNACK apples

WHY ELON I visited several schools when making my decision but when I visited Elon it just seemed like a perfect fit. I really liked the golf program and the facility on campus but I had always wanted to go to a small private school. The campus looked beautiful and I just knew it was a place where I could spend my next four years at.

STUART KAUFMAN Men's Golf

A sports fan, dog-lover and country music fan, junior Stuart Kaufman plays golf for the Phoenix. He started playing golf at age 14 and here he shares some of his life as a student and athlete.

PRE-GAME RITUAL: I usually try to eat a good breakfast, eggs and potatoes. And then listen to country music before playing.

WHAT'S NEXT: I'll likely go back home and work in the business world, using golf as a tool for better business.

HOBBIES: I love to sleep, and I'm a huge New York Rangers fan. I go to games all the time when home.

IN YOUR SPORTS BAG: All of my golf clubs, golf balls, other golf necessities, and some athletic tape because my hands get sore easily.

TRAINING ROUTINE: We work out several mornings, hit a few balls at the range and spend a lot of time around the putting and chipping greens.

FAVORITE JUNK FOOD: I don't eat much junk food, but when I do, I like Oreos. Always with milk.

FAVORITE HEALTHY SNACK: I like peanut butter and jelly sandwiches. It gives me the energy to keep playing during the long days in the sun.

STEFAN FORTMANN

Men's Tennis

This sophomore superstar started playing tennis out of pure boredom!

PRE MATCH RITUAL The night before a match I will get into bed and lie in a certain position and think about the next day. When my alarm goes off the next morning I will hit the snooze button with my nose, not my finger. I will then shower and brush my teeth with my "match day toothbrush" before putting on my clothes and getting ready. Absurd? Possibly...

FAVORITE HOBBIES Playing golf and riding motorbikes and mopeds.

IDEALITY SNACK Nature Valley granola bars and bananas.

FAVE JUNK FOOD Late-night McEwen cheeseburger and bacon!

BEST ADVICE From my coach in South Africa: "What happens in practice, happens in the match."

WHY'D YOU CHOOSE ELON I still don't know to this day why I chose Elon. I had never been in the US before coming to college, but in talking to my coach there was something about this place that just felt right.

WHAT'S NEXT I want to take my career in tennis to the next level, but I try to not think ahead too much and take care of things in the present.

NASA successfully landed Curiosity, a rover the size of a small car, on Mars after an eight month journey. The rover that cost roughly 2.5 billion dollars, will not only take color photographs but also dig for carbon in hopes of analyzing the molecular building blocks of possible life on Mars. NASA celebrated this engineering feat as it was the heaviest object they have successfully landed on the planet; this will keep NASA on track to hopefully send men to Mars in the next thirty years.

Romney & Obama Accept Nominations

A little over two months before the 2012 Presidential Election will be held, President Barack Obama and Governor Mitt Romney both officially accepted nominations from their respective parties. Romney gave his speech on August 31st at the Republican National Convention held in Tampa, Florida. A week later on September 6th, Obama accepted his official nomination in Charlotte, North Carolina. Elections will be held November 6th.

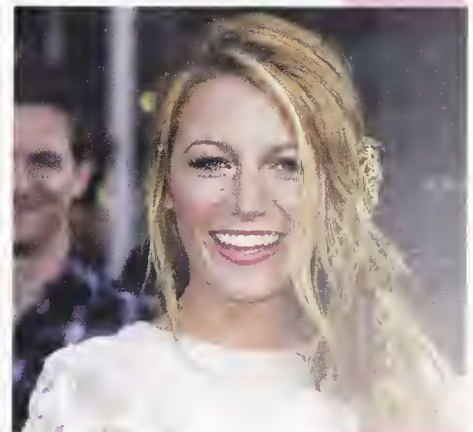

Embassy Attack in Libya

After an anti-Muslim film attacking the prophet Muhammad was posted online and spread through the Middle East, anger grew and protests broke out leading to the US Embassy in Libya being attacked. The American Ambassador, J. Christopher Stevens, and three of his staff were killed. This is the first time that an American ambassador has been killed in an assault since 1979. Obama sent US Marines to the site to help improve security and protect the American embassies. Tensions remain high, but efforts are being made to improve the situation.

After debuting as a couple nearly a year ago, Blake Lively and Ryan Reynolds tied the knot very secretly at Boone Hall Plantation just outside of Charleston, South Carolina on September 9, 2012.

Hurricane Sandy

Hurricane Sandy rocked the Northeast harder than any storm they have seen before. High winds, lots of rain and extreme flooding led to devastating conditions for many families, especially in New York and New Jersey. Power outages lasted for weeks, gas prices skyrocketed as a shortage developed and entire towns were destroyed. The storm is thought to have cost the Northeast $50 billion dollars. Relief efforts are being held to help this region that did not know how to prepare for a storm of this intensity.

Al Qaida Hearings Resume

After a five month break, the criminal trials of all five men accused of being responsible for the September 11th attacks resumed on October 15th in Guantanamo Bay. The five men who are considered to be the minds behind the plan or helped carry out the actual attack could all face the death penalty. Controversial interrogation methods, such as water boarding, have been used on the men almost two hundred times to help determine how accurate their statements are. Family of those killed were present in the courtroom making the atmosphere tense and often ending in outrage.

Pablo Sandoval was named MVP; he hit three home runs in Game One.

Giants Win the World Series

The San Francisco Giants won the World Series for the second time in the last three years after a four-game clean sweep against the Detroit Tigers. After ten innings on October 28th and a final score of 4-3, the Giants ended the series.

Sandy Relief Concert

Chase presented the largest relief concert at Madison Square Garden to benefit The Robin Hood Relief Fund for Sandy Relief that included performers Bruce Springsteen, John Bon Jovi, Billy Joel, Paul McCartney, The Rolling Stones, The Who, Eric Clapton, Roger Waters of Pink Floyd, Chris Martin of Coldplay, Kanye West, and Alicia Keys. The concert raised $30 million dollars before the concert even began and was said to raise another $20 million during the concert.

Newtown Tragedy

On December 14th, the worst grade-school shooting, and second worse school shooting, in history took place at Sandy Hook Elementary School in Newtown, CT where 26 people were killed; twenty first grade students and six female educators. Twenty-year-old Adam Lanza also killed his mother and took his own life. The entire country mourned the loss of so many innocent people while debate sparked on the future of gun control in our country.

Mourners lined the streets creating memorials for the 26 victims located outside of Sandy Hook Elementary.

Another highlight from the day was that Michelle Obama cut her bangs!!!

While the celebration of President Obama's inauguration took place on Monday, January 21st, it was technically the president's second time taking the oath in 24 hours. The formal swearing in ceremony took place the day before due to the constitutional requirement that the oath be taken on the 20th. The day included several choral groups, the inaugural speech, performances by James Taylor, Kelly Clarkson and Beyonce, a parade down Pennsylvania Avenue, and an evening ball at the Washington Convention Center featuring performers included Jennifer Hudson, Stevie Wonder, Alicia Keys, Katy Perry, Brad Paisley, and Smokey Robinson.

Manti Te'o Hoax

Notre Dame linebacker, Manti Te'o, was thrown into the lime light during the National Championship when the news of the heartbreaking loss of his grandmother and girlfriend made headlines. It was later discovered that his girlfriend, alleged Lennay Kekua, never existed. Although Te'o may be a victim of a cruel online hoax, he is not entirely blameless. Ronaiah Tuiasosopo has taken responsibility of the hoax and claims he had an unhealthy obsession with the linebacker.

Armstrong Confession

In October, Lance Armstrong was stripped of his seven Tour de France titles and banned for life from the International Cycling Union, but it wasn't until an interview with Oprah Winfrey on January 16th that Armstrong publicly admitted to doping. Although many appreciated that he came clean and admitted to cheating, many were expecting Armstrong to apologize for what he did — but that never happened. Armstrong led one of the biggest lying scandals in all of sports history even though unlike other athletes in similar situations, he was never charged with criminal perjury for his many years of lying about performance enhancing drug usage.

Pope Benedict XVI Resigns

For the first time in 600 years, Pope Benedict announced that he would resign by the end of the month due to health reasons at the age of 85. The Vatican announced that the Pope hit his head which led to profusely bleeding while on a trip to Mexico in March and had surgery in December to replace the battery in his pacemaker. Although the Catholic world was shocked by this announcement, it was later revealed that the Pope had not kept this decision to himself and there have been plans in progress since the fall regarding where he will reside after he is replaced. It has not yet been confirmed who will replace him.

Supreme Court takes on Gay Marriage

The Supreme Court began hearings on two cases regarding same sex marriage that challenge state and federal laws that define marriage as only being unions between a man and a woman. The first case from California could decide on the constitutional right to same sex marriage, but the justices could take a smaller approach and only make a decision for the state. The other case is from New York that challenges federal law that denies benefits to gay and lesbian couples that are married in states that allow same sex marriage. It may be as late as June for a decision to be made.

Where cuts come from

Discretionary defense spending makes up about 19 percent of the 2012 fiscal year federal budget, but it accounts for half the scheduled sequestration cuts.

Fiscal Cliff leads to Sequester

On March 1st when political parties could not reach a deal regarding the nation's budget, President Obama signed an order to put the sequester cuts into effect. Originally scheduled for January, there was a two month delay but now began a spending reduction of approximately $85.4 billion dollars in fiscal year 2013. The 2014 to 2023 plan will reduce spending by $995 billion for over $1.2 trillion in debt reduction, these budget cuts are divided equally between defense and social programs.

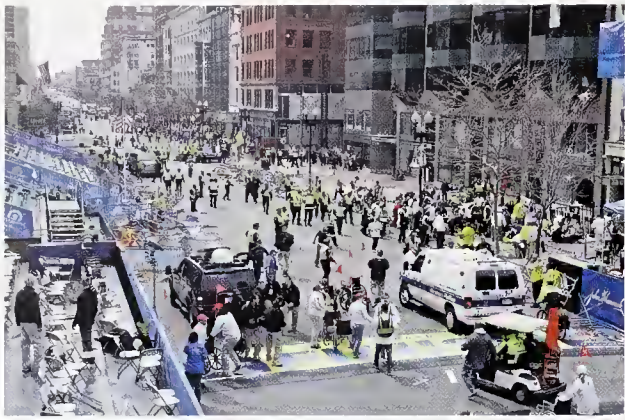

Now known as the sports power couple, golfer Tiger woods and skier Lindsey Vonn both released statements on their Facebook pages confirming that they are dating. The pair met at a charity event last spring but did not begin dating until this year. This is the first relationship that both Woods and Vonn have both had since their divorces with previous partners. Since then Tiger has even returned to being the number one golfer in the world!

Pope Francis is Elected

White smoke rose from the chapel of the Sistine Chapel in Vatican City on March 13th as the cardinals elected a new pope to be the head of the Roman Catholic Church. Jorge Mario Bergoglio, 76 year old from Argentina, was elected the first non-European pope in 1200 years. Known as a humble man, he took the name Francis where he stood on the balcony of St. Peter's basilica and blessed the thousands of people who came to the city.

Boston Marathon Bombings

On April 25th as the Boston Marathon was underway, two bombs exploded near the finish line of the race. The pressure cooker bombs resulted in 264 people being injured and three dead. On April 18th, the FBI released photos of brothers Dzhokhar (19) and Tamerlan Tsarnaev (26), the two suspects of this terrorist attack. Boston was on lockdown as police searched for the brothers who killed an MIT police officer, carjacked an SUV, and exchanged gunfire with Watertown police. Tamerlan Tsarnaev was killed and Dzhokhar escaped with injuries. On Friday night, Police were able to obtain Dzhokhar from a boat in the backyard of a Watertown resident. Tsarnaev has been charged with using and conspiring to use an improvised explosive device against persons and property within the United States resulting in death and one count of malicious destruction of property by means of an explosive device resulting in death.

Jason Collins Comes Out

Jason Collins (34), the center for the Washington Wizards, came out as gay in the May edition of Sports Illustrated. He is the first male athlete to be openly gay while playing for a major American sports team. Collins hopes to start the conversation about more men being comfortable to come out as gay athletes.

Saying Goodbye

Lilly Pulitzer, a socialite turned designer in the 1960s, died on April 7th at the age of 81. Pulitzer will always be remembered for her brightly colored and eccentric patterned dresses that made her famous.

Margaret Thatcher, former British Prime Minister, died on April 9th. This was almost 18 years after her visit to Elon when she spoke at Honors Convocation and dedicated the new Moseley Center. Thatcher brought world attention to Elon and marked the beginning of having incredible speakers come to campus.

The Great Gatsby

Warner Brothers released one of the most anticipated movies of the year, The Great Gatsby, on May 10th. This is the fourth rendition of F. Scott Fitzgerald's novel. This remake stars

Leonardo DiCaprio, Tobey Maguire, Carey Mulligan, Joel Edgerton, and Elizabeth Debicki.

The film brought in $51 million dollars on opening weekend.

Miracle Rescue

Three women were freed from a home in Cleveland, OH after being trapped for almost ten years. Amanda Berry, Gina DeJesus, and Michelle Knight were all kidnapped by Ariel Castro between 2002 and 2004. Castro has been charged on three counts of rape and four counts of rape. DNA results confirmed that Castro is the father of Berry's daughter who was also freed.

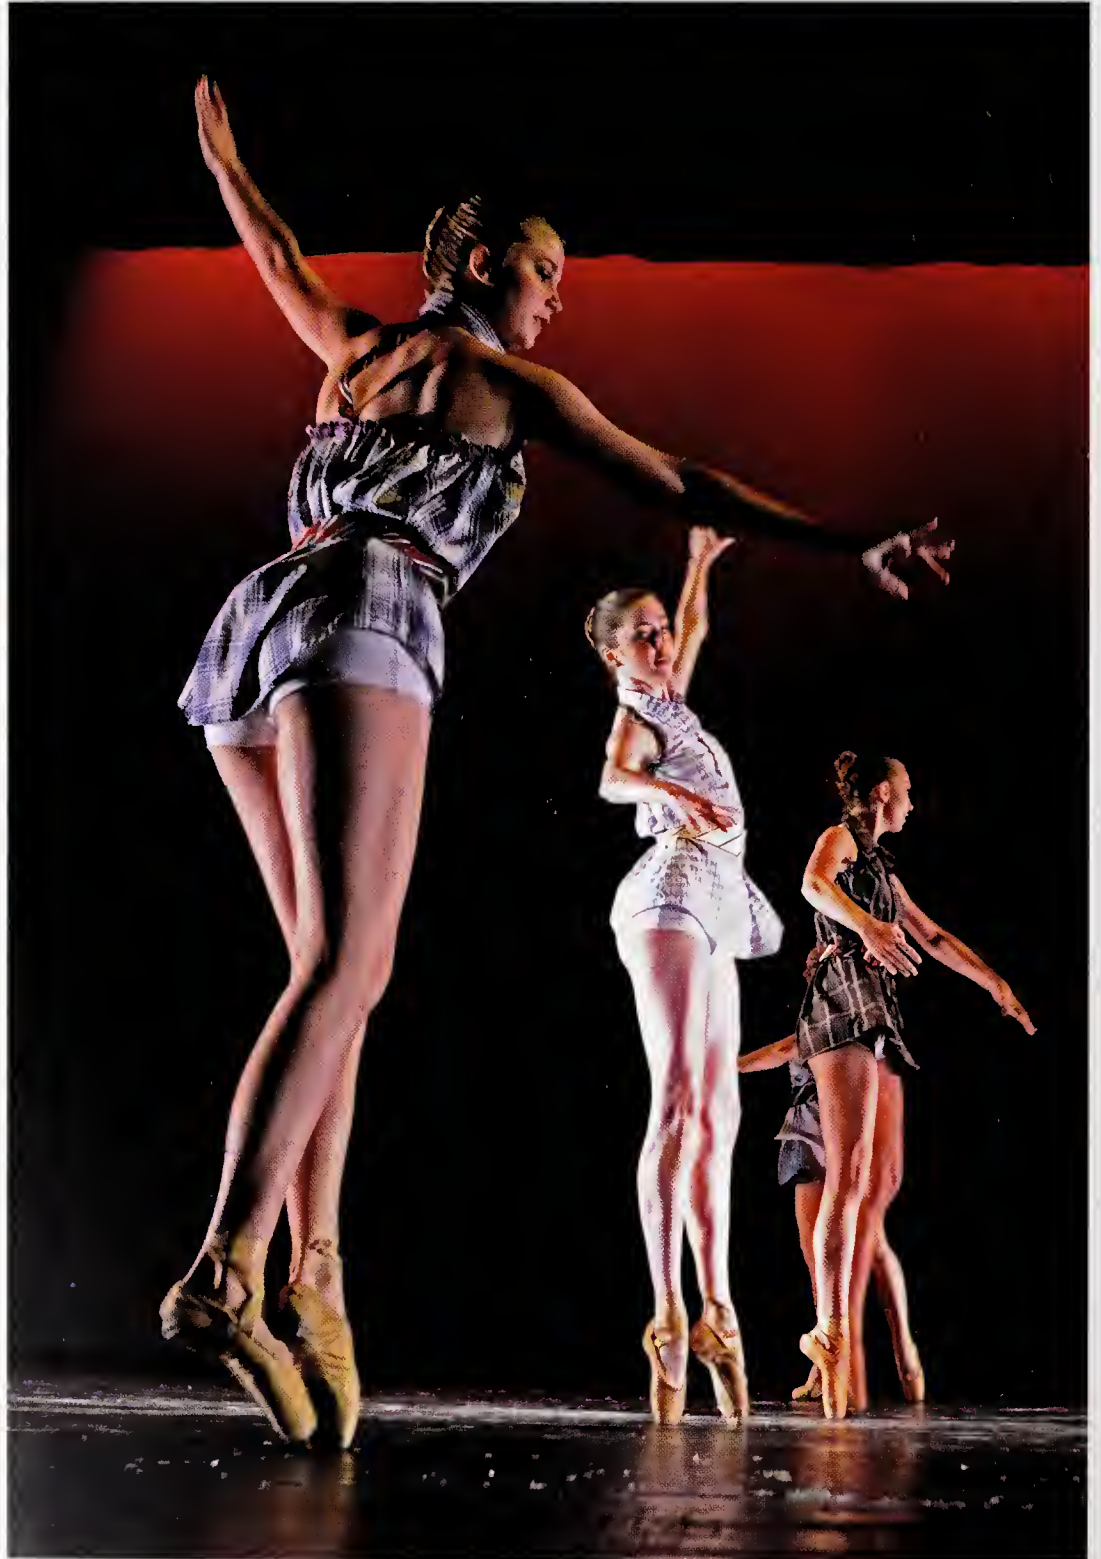

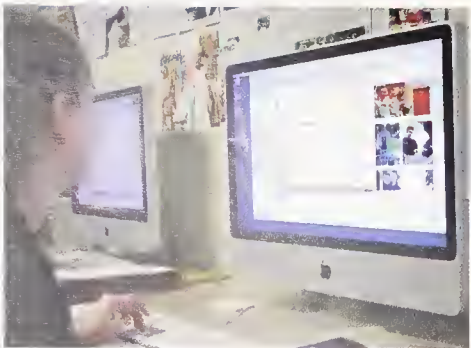

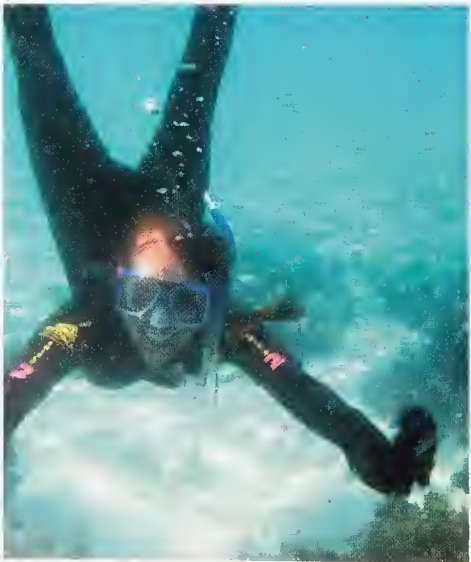

Bangladesh Building Collapse

Rana Plaza, a garment factory complex in Bangladesh, collapsed killing over 1,100 workers. After years of unsafe fire and building procedures and extremely low wages of about $37 a month, many international retailers located there have now released safety plans to prevent future accidents. The first retailers to take action were H&M, Inditex, and C&A. With nearly 5,000 factories that employ nearly 4.5 million people, government officials are hoping to get more retailers on board and begin to put more regulation procedures into place.

Looking Back

Phi Psi Cli has continued the tradition of providing an index in the back of the yearbook to make finding yourself and your friends more convenient.

The index is a tool that can be used to help jog the memories of wonderful times spent here at Elon. You will be surprised to see where our photographers captured you and your friends around campus!

The staff spends multiple hours creating this index section just for you! We apologize if there are any errors or misspellings, for these are unintentional.
